Weekly Picks From the Band

Read of the Week

Confidence Men: Wall Street, Washington and the Education of a President is a book by Ron Suskind, published by HarperCollins on September 20, 2011. On September 15th, 2011, news of the book began to leak to the press with the New York Times, having obtained an advanced copy, writing that "The book offers a portrait of a White House operating under intense pressure as it dealt with a cascade of crises, from insolvent banks to collapsing carmakers. And it details the rivalries among figures around the president, including Mr. Summers; Mr. Geithner; the former chief of staff, Rahm Emanuel; and the budget director, Peter R. Orszag.

Movie of the Week

Overweight Australian filmmaker Joe Cross attempts to wrestle back control of his failing health during a cross-country trek in which he engages everyday Americans in discussions about food and obesity in this lighthearted documentary addressing a deadly serious subject. Clocking in at 310 pounds and pumped full of steroids to battle a debilitating autoimmune disorder, Cross realized that he would soon be dead if he didn't make some major lifestyle changes. But pharmaceuticals were only treating his symptoms, and no doctor seemed capable of providing the long-term care and support it would take to turn his life around. Desperate, Cross loads up his car with a juicer and a generator, and pledges to survive on nothing but fresh fruit and vegetable juice for 60 days.

Album of the Week

Hurry Up, We're Dreaming is the 6th studio album by M83. The double album was released on October 18, 2011 on Mute. Prior to recording Hurry Up, We're Dreaming, Anthony Gonzalez had moved from his native France to Los Angeles. Gonzalez cited road trips to Joshua Tree National Park as a big influence on the album. Gonzalez cited the ambitiousness of albums such as Mellon Collie and the Infinite Sadness as the reason he made Hurry Up, We're Dreaming a double album. In addition, Gonzalez described the two discs as brother and sister, with each track having a sibling on the other disc.
